A UNIQUE RECORD

Home testimony for Doan's Kidney Pills, published in every locality, is of itself convincing evidence of merit. Confirmed testimony forms still stronger evidence. Years ago, a citizen of Norway gratefully acknowledged the benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills. The statement is now confirmed—the proof more convincing. Cases of this kind are plentiful in the work of Doan's Kidney Pills—the record is unique.

S. C. Foster, barber, Main street, Norway says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and I am only too glad to say to others I think they are the best of kidney medicines. Several years ago I had kidney trouble. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at F. P. Stone's Drug Store and I was soon feeling all right again. I remained so for a long time, but later caught cold and my kidneys gave me trouble. I again took Doan's and they gave me relief." (Statement given July 24, 1908).

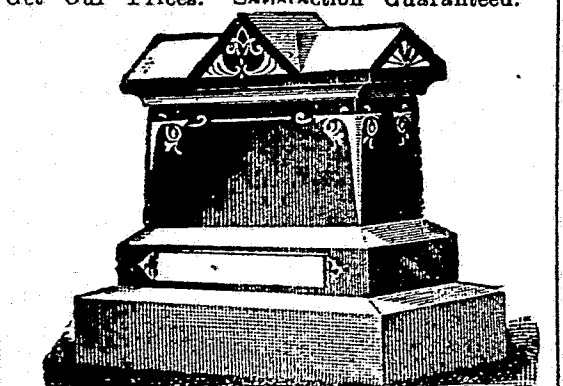

On June 6, 1916, Mr. Foster added: "I still think as well of Doan's Kidney Pills today as when I first endorsed them. I use them occasionally, as I feel in need of them and I am always promptly benefited."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Foster had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. 33-34

HARRISON

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Guilford, have received word that they are in Pasadena, California. They traveled across the continent in their car and had many interesting adventures.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Stuart and son Gordon have returned from their visit to her parents at Edes Falls.

Elsie Stevens spent the week end in Norway.

Mrs. Louise Foster is confined to the house by illness.

Philip Spaulding recently spent a few days in Portland.

Harrison Lodge I. O. O. F. served an oyster supper Friday evening at their banquet hall to the Rebekahs. A social followed.

Mrs. Arthur Stanley is visiting her friend Theo Green, at Kittery.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Caswell started last week for California, where they will spend the winter. While there last year, Mr. Caswell's health improved greatly and he hopes to gain this winter.

E. E. Ward has been suffering with a severe cold and was confined to the house several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ridon recently visited their daughter, Mrs. Ray Whitney and family in Portland.

Mrs. Walter Dudley spent Thanksgiving and several days in Westbrook.

Laura Tolman has closed her summer home and gone to her home in Winchester, Mass., for the winter.

The total number of W. S. S. sold in the Harrison Grammar School, Miss Cockburn, teacher, was $265. Of this amount $200 was sold by Ruth Pitts. In the intermediate class Ethel Sweet, teacher, 200 were sold. Mona Green has credit for $160 of that amount.

Mrs. E. E. Ward spent the day, Monday, in Portland.

Mrs. W. H. Chapman has returned from a visit to Portland.

Attempted Suicide
Everett Boyker, who lives on the S. C. Davis farm, attempted to commit suicide at the office of the Tarbox Livery Stable Friday evening. A double barrel shot gun was used and terrible wounds on the face and head were inflicted, one eye being gone and the nose terribly shattered.

Financial troubles were given as the reason. Dr. Blake of this town and Dr. Hebb of Bridgton were called and rendered first aid treatment, but he was removed to the Maine General Hospital at Portland Saturday morning, where he is very low. Mr. Boyker has a wife and one small child.

Wynegonic Club
The Wynegonic Club met at the home of Mrs. Jessie Warren on Main street, Wednesday afternoon, December 4th.

Mme. Fremstad was again the guest of honor and delighted the members with her readings from Shakespeare. The following program was well received:

Business.....
Roll Call, original or Favorite Verses.....
Paper, Review of the Golden Treasury of Magazine Verses.....
Reading, from Holman Day's poems.....
.....Mrs. Anna Whitney

The Congregational Church, which was struck by lightning in one of the severe showers the past summer, is being repaired by carpenters Coleman Packard and Theodore Glover.

B. W. Harmon spent Sunday with his family on Hillside Avenue.

The Kandle Lite Club met with Bernice Libby on Elm street Wednesday evening. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Chester D. Tarbox has been confined to the house for a week with a severe cold, but is gaining slowly.

Stephen McLain of Shelburne, N. H., who has been stationed at Camp Upton, is honorably discharged from the service and is a guest at Lawrence Knights' on Hillside Avenue.

The honor roll, which is on the Common and contains the name of the Harrison boys in service, was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Walters of Newark, N. J.

The Red Cross roll call begins the drive all over the country on next Monday from the 16th to the 23rd. It is hoped that members will respond readily to this great appeal for help in getting the boys home, etc.

P. P. Freeman went to Portland Tuesday on a short business trip.

Congregational prayer meeting was held with Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Blake the 3rd. On the 10th with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ridlon on Front street.

Allen Sylvester was a recent guest in town.

NORWAY LAKE
Willard Buck, Jr., went November 29 to Massena, N. J., to work this winter. Donald Wood shot a deer, Monday.

The Mothers' Club will have a dance at their hall Saturday night.

Alton Frost of Portland was at David Flood's over Sunday.

Mrs. Ralph Flood returned Wednesday of last week from the C. M. G. Hospital.

The Mothers' Club fair which was held December 5 was a success both in a financial and social way. There was a good attendance in the afternoon and the supper and dance called out a large number in the evening. The entertainment in the afternoon was under the direction of Mimie Upton. Christine Verrill guessed nearest to the number of seeds in the pumpkin, winning a pair of embroidered pillow slips and Wesley Tucker guessed nearest right as to the number of feet in the rope, drawing the quilt. Violin, cornet and piano furnished music for the dance.

Stephen Spofford, who has been in the training camp at Northeastern College, Boston, received his discharge from the service and returned home Saturday night accompanied by a friend, Mr. Smetzer of Boston.

Mrs. V. L. Partridge is ill with influenza.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is a one cured disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that catarrh, catarrh being greatly influenced by constitutional conditions requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is taken internally and acts through the mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The cure is so much faster in the curative powers of Hall's Catarrh Medicine than any other One Hundred Dollars for any information leading to their recovery. Write or telephone.

The ending of the war has made unnecessary the continuation of intensive training for soldiers at the colleges and universities. A general order has been issued for rapid demobilization at all institutions having contracts with the War Department. It is expected that this order will be executed by December 21st and the colleges and universities will resume their regular work.

CARROLL H. BARKER

In Memory of Carroll H. Barker
As I sit all alone in my sorrow
And think of my beautiful boy
Who was taken away from out freside—
Our comfort, our pride, and our joy
As I think of that terrible ending—
There was no one to smooth down his hair,
No one to kiss him for loved ones,
No one to offer a prayer.
There was no one to tell him of Heaven,
Of his beautiful home with God;
But quickly and deeply they laid him away
In the cold and cruel sod.
But, oh, I can think as I ponder,
It may be he's here with us still;
His love will live with us ever,
Our lives with his memory to fill.
He will always be with us in sorrow,
Always be with us in joy;
I can still feel his dear arms around me,
A mother's farewell from her boy.
He was the light of our fire-side,
Could always see sunshine through rain;
God pity his heart-broken mother
Who lones for her dear one in vain.
Yet we thank Thee, dear God, for the kindness
And help, in our sorrow and pain;
For the letters of comfort and wisdom
Of him we shall ne'er see again.
In the long, silent hours of darkness
I can hear his dear voice, soft and low,
Saying, "Mother, dear Mother, I'm with you—
I'm with you wherever you go."
— Lovingly dedicated by his mother.

Christmastide

The Time of All the Year for Cheerfulness and Optimism

Let a smile and a cheery word be our welcome to this season of Christmas with its heritage of hopefulness. Let us keep the spirit of Christmas glowing with a light that reflects our thankfulness for the splendid lessons of many Christmases past, and our confidence in the undeniable benefits of many Christmases to come.

Let us not take one iota from the Yuletide happiness by omitting any of its beautiful traditions and long-standing customs, let us be cheerful—and persist on cheerfulness. So doing help us and those about us, and, in unflinching progression, "Those of our boys far away." Let this cheerfulness be expressed by the usual Christmas tokens of good will and friendship and love—whether that be the kindly word, the hearty handshake or the thoughtful remembrance.

Let us make this the Christmas of all Christmases for the sake of yourselves and, far above that, for the sake of this great, glorious Country of ours, and what it has accomplished for the cause of Liberty, Justice and Democracy.

Bilious relief

If you are really bilious you may feel cold, languid, depressed and have a bad tasting mouth, or you may be feverish, have a headache, and feel ACTUALLY SICK. In either case, you'll have no desire to eat. The one remedy that has helped thousands of bilious people out of this unhealthy condition is the true "L.P." Atwood Medicine. If you are having bilious symptoms you should begin to use it at once, a teaspoonful as directed. Surprise Party and Shower

Thelma Verrill was given a surprise party and shower by the Oxford Knitting Co., employees in honor of her approaching marriage to Elwood Pierce of West Paris. This event occurred Thursday evening, Dec. 5 at the home of her brother, Rodney W. Verrill on Tucker St., and was attended by twenty-one guests. Mrs. Ora Harlow and Mrs. Flora York planned the surprise and carried all the arrangements without a hitch.

Music and sociability made the evening enjoyable, and one long to be remembered. Ice cream, fancy crackers, candy, and pop corn was furnished by the guests.

Silverware, china and linen made useful gifts. These were given by H. B. Foster, Turner C. Hunton, foreman of the factory, and the bride-elect's associates. Many small "take offs" were bought just for sport, and these caused considerable merriment.

Congregational Church Notes
Rev. M. O. Baltzer will preach Sunday morning upon the subject "Over the Top to Victory." Sabbath school as usual. Junior C. E. at 3 o'clock, subject: "How God Looks at Us," leader, James Smith. Senior C. E. at 6, subject: "The Power of the Cross in the Philippines," leader, the pastor. Evening service at 7 o'clock unless arrangements for the mass meeting in the Opera House cause a change.

The every member drive conducted Sunday afternoon was a complete success, seventeen hundred dollars was raised, and to total amount pledged for 1919 will exceed $2500.

The Women's Missionary Society will meet Wednesday, Dec. 18, at 3 p. m. with Mrs. John Swain, Tucker street. Subject: "Women Workers in the Orient."

Having a Variety of Enduring Interests will be discussed at the mid-week meeting, Dec. 12. A vote will be taken to change the hour of this service from 8 to 7:30 hereafter.

Methodist Church Notes

At the Sabbath School board meeting last Sunday the committees for the Christmas festivities were appointed. Mrs. O. L. Stone and teachers in the Junior Department will arrange for the recitations; Mrs. D. L. Joslyn, Beatrice Stone and Mrs. Hiram Calef, the music; H. L. Nichols and his class of boys will produce the tree. Candy bags will be in charge of Mrs. Frances Lasselle and the Ladies' Aid are to serve refreshments. Henrietta M. Taylor was elected teacher of the women's Sabbath school class.

Sunday services as usual except the regular evening meeting, which will be omitted if the proposed mass meeting is held.

Big Christmas Jubilee

Giles Frost and his associates have arranged a Christmas Day program at Norway Opera House. It will include a Sunlight Hop in the afternoon from 2 to 5:30 and basket ball at 7:45 followed by a dance from 9 to 1 o'clock. Music by the well known four piece orchestra.

The basket ball exhibition game will be a struggle between Norway High and South Paris High. This is their first clash for the season and the game will go with speed without a slacker in either outfit.

Arrangements have been made to dance the old year out and the new year in at Norway Opera House. This is to be a masquerade hop with prizes for various make-ups.

Rev. M. O. Baltzer is local chairman for the Red Cross membership drive to take place during the week of Dec. 16-23. If possible to secure a speaker from "over seas" a mass meeting will be held in the Opera House Sunday evening. Special music and interesting features can be secured if the meeting materializes.

The annual convention of the Sovereign College of Allied Masonic and Christian Degrees of America will be held in Masons' Hall, Dec. 19 at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

Mrs. Fred Allen had an attack of grip, recently, but is now able to be at her post of duty at Miss H. M. Taylor's Millinery establishment.

Lewis I. Gilbert has been showing up some of the local patriotic pig raisers. A March pig from the Don Seitz farm was killed this week and dressed 300 pounds. So far as known this is the local record to date. Lewis expects that the pork specialist, Shorty Cook, will note this weight carefully. Last year the farmer-barber attempted to make a squeeze play in the pig raising line, but failed to come inside the money on the last quarter. Mr. Gilbert says: "I raise pigs for the salt barrel and not for sausage or fox bait. If I am beaten this year I will try again."

WEST PARIS

Celebrated Ninety-fifth Birthday
Mrs. O. D. Ellingswood and Mrs. Annie Willis went to Bethel Saturday morning to visit Mrs. Ellingswood's mother, Mrs. Ebenezer Richardson, to celebrate her ninety-fifth birthday. Mrs. Richardson was born Dec. 8, 1823 and was married to Ebenezer Richardson in 1848.

The first four years of their married life was spent in Marlboro, Mass., and then moved to Bethel where they made their permanent home. Mr. Richardson died in 1906 at the age of 85 years. Since then, Mrs. Richardson has lived with her son, Newton, a well known citizen of Bethel.

Mrs. Richardson is well preserved for one of her age and enjoys the every day events and the home life around her. Her daughters carried her a birthday cake and some homemade candy. Mrs. Willis returned the same day but Mrs. Ellingswood stayed over until Wednesday.

PARIS HILL

Streaked Mountain

William Bisbee of Norway is working on F. P. Harlow's house.

Vern Edwards of Paris is boarding at Neil Lovejoy's and yarding wood for A. W. Walker.

There will be a dance at the Club House Saturday night.

Porter District

Leon Felton is confined to the house by illness.

Saturday, Frank Packard shot a deer in A. B. Marshall's pasture.

Eben Pike has received his honorable discharge from the service and came from Camp Devens to his home at West Paris, Sunday night. He visited his sister, Mrs. Lee Marshall Monday.

Walter L. Bryant from South Woodstock spent the week end at W. B. Bryant's.

Had Nothing on Him.

RED CROSS HAS A NOBLE TASK AHEAD

Maj. Gen. Edwards Just Back From the Front Cites Cases in a Signed Article.

BY MAJ. GEN. CLARENCE R. EDWARDS.
Commander Department of Northeast, U. S. A.

The Red Cross has a great work ahead of it, a very great work, a noble work. We don't yet realize how great this work is to be, right here in New England. But we shall know better in a few weeks, when our wounded boys are here, and better still in a year from now, when we have seen them with our own eyes and have heard their stories.

The work that the Red Cross has done in France has been great and useful. When we arrived there we were in terrible need of tents and blankets. When we had done our best there was still need. Then the Red Cross stepped in, without any useless red tape, and found us that our New England boys were kept comfortable. That means a great deal to a boy when he is three thousand miles away from home, and cold and wet. The Red Cross will be busy in France and Belgium for a long time yet, with the people in the devastated regions and with our own boys. But the work that I can't help thinking of most, the work dearest to me, is that which will be absolutely necessary for our boys here and for their families, right in our midst.

Every day I get scores of letters from the relatives of our boys. Some of them are most pathetic—they take a hold on my heart. They come from the mothers of our boys, mothers who do not know where their boys are, and who are sick with worry, mothers who know that their boys have been wounded but wish to learn more about them, to ease their terrible anxiety, mothers who wish to know when their dead boys will be sent home.

Letters come from widows whose only sons are in the army in France and who are dependent on these sons. These mothers are sometimes in great need of financial aid, and they are afraid that their government allotments will not arrive in time. They need money for food and for rent. Here is a letter from a widow whose son has been wounded and is now in the hospital in another state. He cannot yet be discharged, but he is her only support, and she writes to tell me her needs because unless help comes she is going to suffer.

Last year these mothers were sending boxes at Thanksgiving time to their boys. This year many of them are waiting, while they weep, for the terrible box that will bring the body of the dear son home to them. These mothers are the rightful care of the Red Cross, and what a work it can do for them.

On our boat coming home were 186 crippled men, coming back to make their way again. Another boat started the same day with as many more. Some of these boys have only one arm, some have only one leg, some will not see their mother's face because they are blind. What is going to become of these boys? Who have given all that they could? Many of them cannot hold their old places of work. Where will they find new ones? No nobler work can be done than for the Red Cross to see to it that they are made comfortable, that they are looked after until they are settled again. And they must not come back to homes that have been uprooted while they were away. The Red Cross can make them most happy by having their homes safe for them, and their mothers and sisters well.

One of the best things about the Red Cross is that it has no red tape. It goes straight to the heart of things at once, and wastes no time. Its help is sure and quick, and that means everything. I hope that the Red Cross can see to it that no man shall be found, a year from now, with an empty sleeve or on crutches, who is wandering the streets looking for work. We don't yet know what it all means, but we are going to find out pretty soon when the boys are here again.

The Red Cross has a great and a very noble task ahead.

SOUTH RUMFORD
Francis P. Putnam, who has been seriously ill with bronchitis and heart trouble the past week, is slowly gaining. His daughter, Mrs. Anna Harlow of Livermore, and Mrs. Alice Sloan and Mrs. Susie Longley of Portland were called home to help care for him.

Mrs. Whynnaught cared for her little grandson, Bisbee Laite, last week, while Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Laite of Rumford Center attended conference in Boston.

Among the casualties reported Wednesday is Private Fred A. Pearsons of Rockfield, died of disease; Private Earl Darrington, of East Sumner, severely wounded; Private Jesse B. Smith of West Paris, severely wounded.

Had Nothing on Him.
The haughty English lord was endeavoring to impress the importance of his family upon his guide in the Scotch Highlands.

"Why," he exclaimed, with an eloquent gesture, "my ancestors have had the right to bear arms for the last 200 years!"

Hebron
George Wallace Cushman

George Wallace Cushman died Saturday night, Dec. 7, at Augusta at the age of 67 years. He was born in Hebron Nov. 14, 1851, the son of Major Cushman, and is remembered as a fine tenor singer and sang in the Hebron Male Quartet. He resided in Hebron until about 40 years of age, when he moved his family to Augusta. By trade, he was a brick mason and a member of the Brick Masons and Plasterers' Union. He was a republican.

About 47 years ago he married Alice Beare, who died nearly three years ago. Mr. Cushman is survived by the daughter, Mrs. Fannie Whitman of Hebron, Mrs. Maud Crafts and Mrs. Amy Phillips both of Auburn, and one sister, Mrs. Delphina Cushman.

The funeral was held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fannie Whitman at Hebron, Tuesday, at 1 o'clock. Rev. J. True Crosby of Auburn officiated. There were several piano selections by Mrs. Cooper Cousins of Mechanic Falls. The bearers were his three sons-in-law, Leon Whitman, Chauncey Crafts, Emerson Phillips and his nephew, C. L. Bray. Burial was in the family lot in Hebron. The many flowers were beautiful.

SWEDEN
Frank Ridlon is cutting Mrs. Norrene Brackett's winter coat.

Booby Bacon of Sidney took dinner with his aunt, Mrs. E. S. Plummer one day last week.

Cyrus Durgin and wife played for a dance at South Watford recently. They have quite a musical family. Their eldest daughter plays the violin, the next one plays the organ and Enfield aged 14 years is taking lessons on the clarinet and Gerald aged 12 is taking violin lessons. A little later they will have an Orchestra all to themselves.

Wendell Plummer was home from Bridgton over Sunday.

George Durgin and Thomas Moody were in town hunting one day last week. Will Buswell, wife and daughter, Gladys spent the afternoon with Orpha Plummer one day last week.

Ernest Bennett and Enfield Plummer helped Lindon Merrill saw wood at the door, Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Georgia Flint is in Woodstock visiting her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Hatch.

Allice Kneeland is doing housework at Frank Stone.

Several in this vicinity have killed their pigs. Charles Saunders the butcher had to leave off thrashing beans and kill some pork to go with the beans.

Enfield Plummer has swapped his Beckwith Airtight Stove for a new Glenwood of the largest size, a sub-base. It is a "slick one" so he says.

Norrene Brackett has just had the telephone put back into her house.

Lillian Kimball of South Watford spent the night at C. A. Saunders', Friday.

MRS. MARILLA RICKER EXPOUNDS BLUE LAWS OF LONG AGO

I have had many letters lately concerning the famous old "Blue Laws" of Connecticut. These laws were enacted by the people of the Dominion of New Haven and are as follows: "The Governor and Magistrates convened in general assembly are the supreme power under God of this independent dominion. From the determination of the assembly in appeal shall be made. No one shall be a freeman or have a vote unless he is converted and a member of one of the churches allowed in the dominion. Each freeman shall swear by the blessed God to bear true allegiance to this dominion and that Jesus is the only king. No dissenting shall be allowed to give a vote for electing of magistrates or any officer."

"No food or lodging shall be offered to a heretic. No one shall cross a river on the Sabbath but authorized clergymen. No one shall travel, cook victuals, make beds, sweep houses, cut hair or shave on the Sabbath day. No one shall kiss his or her children on the Sabbath or on fast-days. The Sabbath day shall begin at sunset Saturday. Whoever wears clothes trimmed with gold, silver or bone lace above one shilling yard shall be presented by the grand jurors and the selectmen shall tax the estate three hundred pounds."

"Whoever brings cards or dice into the dominion shall pay a fine of five pounds. No one shall eat nut-pies, dance, play cards or play any instrument of merriment except the drum, trumpet or jewsharp. No gospel minister shall join people in marriage, as he may do it with less scandal to Christ's church."

"When people refuse their children convenient marriages, the magistrate shall determine the point. A man who strikes his wife shall be fined ten pounds. A woman who strikes her husband shall be punished as the law directs." I've heard she was hanged but nothing was said about it in the laws.

No man shall marry a maid in person or by letter without obtaining the consent of her parents. Five pounds penalty for the first offence, ten for the second and for the third imprisonment during the pleasure of the court."

In my research I came across the Connecticut Covenant and Hartford Weekly, Intelligence of June 12th 1775 and it explained the origin of the word "Yankee." When the New England Colonies were settled the inhabitants were obliged to fight their way against many Nations of Indians. They found but little difficulty in subduing them all except one tribe who were known by the name of Yankos which signifies invincible.

After the waste of much blood and treasure the Yankos were at last subdued by the New England men. The remains of this nation agreeably to the Indian conquerors. For a while they were called quakers. For a while they were called Yankos, but from corruption common to names in all languages they received through time the name of Yankees, a name that cannot be beaten and should put a stop to all controversy concerning the name."

NORWAY LADY EXPLORES VOLCANO

(Written by Dora L. Kirtwin on a recent visit to Mt. Haleakala in Hawaii. Continued from Advertiser of Dec. 6.)

"August 21, 1918. The sunrise was obscured by clouds and mist from the crater, but a few glimpses of rare beauty rewarded us."

A pen-and-ink sketch illustrating "Bartlett's Angels" in costume, skillfully executed by the gifted fingers of Miss Betty, finished our contribution to the Rest House Guest-Book, and we departed along the trail for "Red Hill." Picking our way carefully over lava rocks, we came finally to the Quarry, a deposit of flinty stone adapted admirably for the making of arrow-heads in the prehistoric days. Here it was that we threw off our packs (for this was the first day we had assumed our full loads), and rested at length, while luncheon was prepared on this historic battle ground, where Kamehameha 1st fought and killed the King of Maui and took possession of the Island. It was here we hunted for and found plenty of black carbon crystals which shone like diamonds in the sun. Veritable "Black Diamonds" they were!

From there we started down the trail, over the "sliding sands," into the crater, continuing with that kind of walking during a drop of 2800 feet onto the floor of the crater, where the going was comparatively level for several miles, winding in and about the cones, alongside the "a-a," lava flow, until finally a tall cone was rounded and we came upon "The Bubble," a cave in the floor of the crater apparently just what its name indicated. A bubble in the lava, with a small opening to one side of the top-center. There had been former occupants of a careless habit, and we had to clean out tin cans, remains of the camp fire, and bury the feet and hides of several goats, strewn about before it was inhabitable. Huge armfuls of ferns strewn on the floor made a soft bed, and sweet perfume to the "room." The ceiling was just high enough that one could bump one's head with the most telling effect, when on bended knee. But I'm not telling what was said, when that happened!

In spite of having worn our red bandanas across our faces for protection from glare and wind and sand-reflected heat, we were somewhat burned about the nose and mouth. The girls had carefully "made up" with No. 5 Grease Paint,—"Pink Juveniles" they looked, just like a bunch of female bandits from the sixth Episode of "Little Red Riding Hood." Doctor had to stop, to let Dodo bandage up his blistered "toesies," and even that was photographed by our "staff artist." Arriving at the Bubble at 2 o'clock, some of the party went to the Spring, on the side of the mountain, for water. Then a party started for the Bottomless Pit, to hunt silver-ware, and to explore this mammoth region. The day was perfect. The great enclosing wall, circled and rose about us; the ruggedness in cones or the level and rolling surfaces stretching about us, broken here and there by lava rock, the silver-ware, patches of ferns, and a few berry bushes. The silver-ware plant found on the crater of Haleakala is known to grow only in one other place in the world—namely, the Himalaya Mountains. We photographed some fine specimens in blossom, which we found growing quite close to the Bubble. How good did taste that meal of corned beef hash, sausage, rice, hardtack and coffee! And at night how good was that kind quarter of wild goat which we obtained from a "kaka" hunter, at the spring and fried for supper, and then stewed and warmed up for breakfast it made a welcome addition to our fare.

In almost a moment, darkness descended upon us, and we spent a cheerful evening about our campsite until the mist made us his to our "bedroom" underground, where Dodo attempted to write up her diary by the aid of flashlights, until Danny conceived the brilliant idea of putting a piece of rope with in the bottle of kerosene, and we had an effectual if smoky torch. Our guide apportioned us each spot in the cave where we were to bunk on the floor, in a row, with heads towards the opening in the roof. Our blankets were spread, and we slipped into them, shoes removed and we soon were all located for the night—but not to sleep! No, indeed.

But the rain descends on the just and the unjust, and Doc got his, before morning. The gentle showers persisted, and finally there was a slow, steady trickle as the water seeped through the cracks in the roof and found Doc's nose—and Dodo's nose—and then gradually others found they too were in the drip, and dry spots in the cave were at a premium. But by this time morning had come, and E. G. and "Freddy" got up and made breakfast, while others went to the spring, in the mist and rain, for water. At 10 o'clock we decided to abandon the cave and get out through Kaupo gap that day.

In spite of the fact that it was raining outside, Betty and Freddy decided to put on their make-up of grease paint, and not venture before venturing on the trip, and not content with doing their own toilet, they had to "doll up" Danny and E. G., who proved to be quite tractable in their hands. Doc adroitly dodged the mauling, and the fates with him, in supplying a rainy day. The remarks of Dodo and E. G., who were undergoing this excruciating brand of torture, were very much enjoyed by "all present." During the absence of the others, at the spring, Dan and Lillian took a last final look, and succeeded in murdering several captives!

At 10:30 A. M. we were under way, and while it didn't pour, still it was wet, until 12 A. M. our walk for three miles was through the crater. We passed by Crystal Cave and Paliku Forest, a very wet and pretty place with innumerable waterfalls. At noon we reached Kaupo gap where we stopped for luncheon. We had crossed the crater floor at the Bubble, and had gone out by the left wall, where as the day before we had kept near the right wall of the crater. The gap, where we lunched, was narrow but very pretty, with a glimpse of the sea. It is the rather the edge of the crater wall from the Paliku Forest and was dry and sunny, while the other side had been so wet. This was a good lesson in geography. We made a decided step out of rain into sunshine. We took pictures there, and rested after eating; then proceeded on our way.

From there on we commenced our drop of 7000 feet. The way was down, down, all day. This made it necessary to keep the knees bent most of the time, and hold the body back. The trail was filled with loose rolling stones, so we had to be careful in placing our feet.

On the way down, as we walked along the ridge, the strong wind carried Doc's hat off down the side of the mountain, but he landed it in a dense growth of cane. Off came packs, and down Doc scrambled in search of the hat in this maze of vegetation.

Dodo, in sympathy, possibly, let her's blow off, too, just to guide Doc to which way the wind was blowing. They say two heads are better than one—but Doc says that don't apply to bare heads!

But this gaiety gradually left Doc, as he descended nearer and nearer to Mr. Vierra's, where we were to spend the night, and when some one asked Doc if he were tired, he said: "Tired? Say, I'm so tired, I wouldn't stoop to pick up a dollar bill; no, sir; I'd kick it under the bed until morning." The descent had been a hard one, and there was much speculation on the part of those of us who had not been over the trail before, as to what we should find at Vierra's. Some even questioned if it wasn't possibly "Ye-ve-ve-ve" would look like. Would she be pretty? Would she be kind to us, or would she turn us out in the cruel, cold world, with out aid or succor?

And how hot it was, coming down that trail and how thirsty we all were. The Poet's thoughts turned ever backward, to that cool, refreshing little spring we had left on the mountain side, surrounded with a beautiful green bank of moss. But Bartlett remained adamant, and said we'd have to continue to choke till we reached this Vierra person's place, because possibly he couldn't take us in, and we'd have to tramp on to the schoolhouse and sleep on the board floor. I believe I prefer dirt floors for sleeping purposes! Luck was with us, and we found Mr. Vierra a splendid man, awaiting our arrival. His wife being away from home, he stepped out and placed his home at our disposal, while he stayed with some neighbors. How the girls did rave over that spotless kitchen, with its aluminum equipment, and everything that made cooking and serving of meals a pleasure. How "Freddy," our Domestic Science expert, did excel herself! Papaya, honey, boiled rice with raisins, and more boiled rice with raisins, and cream and honey. (And, may it be whispered, some even passed out) for a third helping of this "Angel Food."

Dodo was the only one to avail herself of the hospitality of the beds; the rest chose the spot in the grass outside, in the shelter of the stone fence, that best suited their fancy. There, in blanket and "wingies," they stretched themselves out and gazed up at the stars, and a perfect moon; or out upon a peaceful ocean, with that brilliant path of light across it, leading straight to the moon. What a beautiful picture! Shall we ever forget the effects of the rising moon, seen through the waving palms, streaking the ocean with a pathway of light! And to sleep in this sweet, peaceful spot, free from care or fear! But the fates had destined that Danny should be doomed to another search, a final one, although he had taken all precautions of a restful night, of his clothing, blanket, and had had a refreshing bath in a real tub—the first since leaving home!

The chaump, chaump, chaump of a grazing cow made Doc jump a foot high, about three A. M., and made him make a safety first dash to the right, where he opened his eyes and found a surprised cow casting loving glances at his red bandana. He says he surreptitiously slipped that offending rag down the back of his neck, while he whispered sweet nothing to Bossy, in an effort to have her look elsewhere for a moment, and then he says that henceforth his motto shall be: "Diplomacy pays." We have not learned exactly what he meant, but no doubt his intentions were all right, in what he said to the cow. She at least took him at his word—and he still appears in the best society with his two original cow companions.

I see in Dodo's diary, anent the Vierra visit: "Aug. 23. Up at daylight. As I went out the back door to clean my teeth I looked up the slope on the grass and saw several heads covered with red bandanas. They were looking at the moon and sunrise. It was a glorious morning. The peacocks were strutting about in the back yard, and the oranges shone among the glossy dark leaves on the trees. We had gathered the fruit of the orange and lemon trees the night before and had made a syrup for our lunch that day."

"We were soon to see why Maui too might well be called the 'Garden Isle.' We enjoyed our breakfast of papaya fruit, rice with milk and honey, corned beef hash, and sausage, hardtack and coffee. We have a heavy meal at breakfast, as it is easier travelling on light luncheon at noon. At 8:30 A. M. we were ready, and we said goodbye to Vierra, the horses, cattle, pigs and poultry. It was hard to tear Lillian away from her barnyard pets. We were off for Kipahulu, a sugar plantation owned and managed by Mr. Passoth, father of one of Miss Kirtwin's pupils at Punahou. We had to travel through four large and three small gulches from Kaupo to Kipahulu. First was Kalipo, then Mimiliio, then Alelele, and last Liliika. They were all beautiful, but Alelele was the most lovely. We ate luncheon there, by a stream. I wish I could describe this gulch, but I cannot, and do it justice. A lovely stream, with numerous deep waterfalls in the middle; lovely vegetation, almost tropical in appearance on the high, steep banks; a view of the sea where the gulch ends; and back up the gulch a view of green masses of growing things with gawk, mysterious shadows broken by the fall of water over the gray rocks, and over all the sound of the flowing stream and the splash of the water as it tumbled a hundred or more feet down over the rocks. A Mormon priest, while trying to ford this stream in high water, on mule back, was carried over that fall, mule and all, by the current."

Above us, we penetrated the tangle of growth until we came to another beautiful waterfall, falling in the centre of a horse-shoe curve in the rocky walls. This must have been 80 to 100 feet drop of water. Around the curved walls of this grotto, like place the water was trickling down over green mossy rock. The pool at the foot of the fall was large and deep. The boys enjoyed a swim there, while we went nearer our trail to another lovely secluded pool, where we swam. It was delicious, the water was so cool and clear. Lillian took a picture of us bathing in that pool.

After our swim we lunched, and then clambered over the rocks below us to see the fall where the Mormon priest lost his life. In order to see that safely we had to be held by the feet while we climbed to the edge of the rock and looked over. Lillian lost her flashlight and lipstick in her pocket, while she peered over the falls, and saw it disappear in the waters below—all in a flash, so to speak! A by-word which stuck to our party, after that.

The trail leading into and out of the gulch was one that zigzagged back and forth like the letter "M," and the grade was so steep that before we were up this trail, on our way from this enchanting spot, we would scarcely believe that we had shivered with the cold while swimming in the cool waters of the pool, a short time before, for we were so hot.

We had plenty of up-hill and down-dale, that day.

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this successful remedy is made impresses even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attend the making of this great medicine for woman's ills.

Over 350,000 pounds of various herbs are used annually and all have to be gathered at the season of the year when their natural juices and medicinal substances are at their best.

The most successful solvents are used to extract the medicinal properties from these herbs.

Every utensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized and as a final precaution in cleanliness the medicine is pasteurized and sealed in sterile bottles.

It is the wonderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its preparation which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

NORTH LOVELL

Mrs. Abbie McKee has been very sick with a bad cold and cough the past two weeks. She is gaining a little at present, although rather weak yet, and unable to get out any.

A. B. Garcelon called on friends here last week. This week he has been fixing his house ready for cold weather, as they expect to stay at Lovell through the cold weather.

Elmer Burnell, a returned soldier, is calling on friends here.

Annus McAllister of Waterford has visited his niece, Mrs. Susie Watson.

Cutting wood seems to be the order of the day in this locality. L. E. McAllister has some twenty-five cords cut and John Kimball nearly that amount. Nearly everyone is preparing a larger amount of fuel than usual.

Not many deer taken in this vicinity as yet, but the hunter still have hopes of getting their number.

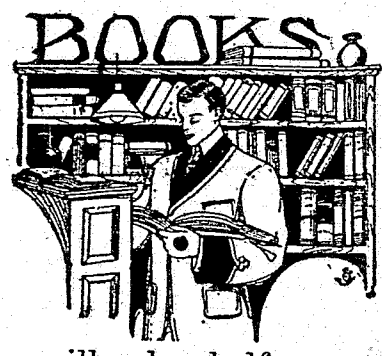

Several from this place attended the fair and dance at the Mothers' Club Hall, Norway Lake, Thursday evening.

Mrs. W. A. Brett and Mrs. S. M. Annis attended Pomona at South Paris Tuesday, December 3.

Loren Brett returned home last week after spending a few days with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Buck, at South Harrison.

NORTHEAST LOVELL

An automobile accident occurred Tuesday, December 3, on the Keniston Hill, which caused much excitement when Bert Kendall's auto turned square over, throwing Mr. Kendall, Elmer Fox and Clinton and Stanley Milliken out on the frozen ground. Mr. Milliken and son were quite badly hurt, but the others were not hurt, only lame, and the auto has now been fixed up and is in running shape again and Mr. Milliken and son are able to be up and around the house.

Frank Farrar has a job for the winter at Bangor Falls.

Caleb Cushman had the prize winning hog for when he was killed and dressed, he weighed 445 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Less Stearns, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Eastman took dinner Sunday at G. A. Kimball's at the Center.

S. P. Kimball killed a hog for Mellen Eastman Friday at No. 8.

Bert Kendall and family were in Stoneham, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Less Stearns of the Center are in Portland. Fred Brown is keeping store.

The Ladies Lecture given by Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Willard at the Christian Church was very interesting and we hope they may give it again next summer.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fies were at his mother's, Mrs. John Fies', Thursday, at Stoneham.

The Invincible Class, assisted by the Junior Class of the Christian Church will give a Christmas entertainment and have a fine Santa Claus and a good lot of fun and some fine trees on Dec. 25, Christmas evening.

Rev. Mr. Willard will give a talk Wednesday at Fryeburg Academy.

George Fies is saving poplar for Geo. Eastman.

NORTH LOVELL

Mrs. Abbie McKee has been very sick with a bad cold and cough the past two weeks. She is gaining a little at present, although rather weak yet, and unable to get out any.

A. B. Garcelon called on friends here last week. This week he has been fixing his house ready for cold weather, as they expect to stay at Lovell through the cold weather.

Elmer Burnell, a returned soldier, is calling on friends here.

Annus McAllister of Waterford has visited his niece, Mrs. Susie Watson.

Cutting wood seems to be the order of the day in this locality. L. E. McAllister has some twenty-five cords cut and John Kimball nearly that amount. Nearly everyone is preparing a larger amount of fuel than usual.

Not many deer taken in this vicinity as yet, but the hunter still have hopes of getting their number.

SWEET CORN CONTEST AWARDS

The award in this year's contest among the boys has been awarded by George A. Yeaton of Norway and Van Denkerkboven of Bethel. BRYANT'S POND

Our Own Little Town
The great war is over. Our soldier boys are already beginning to sail across the deep blue Atlantic to the best level land of all, and we, the citizens of this little town, who have supported the nation so loyally through these last trying years can once more give a larger share of our attention to that little bit of the United States which concerns us most, the good old town of Woodstock.

Like most of the little towns of the nation, we have felt the strain of war severely and many changes have taken place. Many of our best boys have been called away, some of whom will never return to us again, but after all we have cause to be thankful that the losses were no heavier, and that the greater number of our boys will return home. Business will gradually adjust itself to peace conditions once more and then must follow a great period of expansion and prosperity. It is up to the citizens of this town to see to it that Woodstock obtains its rightful share of its opportunities and possibilities in the years to come. It is our duty as good American citizens to build up the town, to make it one of the very best towns in Maine and the U. S. A. We want to see more business here, for business is the life of the town and is absolutely necessary if our town is to grow and prosper. We want to see our schools increased year by year, in numbers and in usefulness to the community. What we need more than anything else, is this town to bring this about in cooperation and helpfulness to each other on the part of all our citizens. Striving to help each other out whether merchant, farmer or laborer, making the most of our own opportunities and glad if the other fellow prospers. Speaking a good word for each other wherever we may be. This spirit on the part of our citizens more than anything else, will bring a greater prosperity, greater blessings and make our own little town of Woodstock in the future as it has been in the past, one of the best little communities to be found anywhere.

Franklin Grange

Franklin Grange held an interesting meeting Saturday, Dec. 7, with a large attendance. After the business meeting, the following program was carried out:

Singing of America... Colby Ring
Reading of the Declaration of Independence... Rowena Ring
Piano Solo... Mary Seamus
Vocal Solo, encore... Ralph Bacon
Reading, Britain's Day... Ralph Bacon
Pare, Johnny's New Coat...

EAST SUMNER.

A very enjoyable affair was the reception at the Congregational vestry last week, Tuesday, in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Collins and their family. Words of welcome were spoken by R. G. Stephens, J. S. Palmer and W. H. Eastman. Mr. Collins responded in a happy manner. There were songs by E. R. H. Stetson, and by the Bonney sisters, and readings by Mrs. Eastman, Lisle Collins and Augusta Stetson. Mr. Eastman performed some stunts in legermain. A treat of chocolate was served. The exercises closed with the singing of America, by the company.

The Every Member Drive met with great success here. The financial drives are always met with a cheerful and hearty response by the people of this community. Wilbur Braden went deer hunting last week. Harry Russell took his place on the section.

Mrs. Lucy Russell, accompanied by her sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Gammon of Farmington and Clara Ellis of Cambridge, Mass., has gone to Florida to spend the winter. Word has been received that Fred Waterhouse, formerly of this place, has been severely wounded in France.

Mrs. H. W. Bonney is slowly gaining and can now walk about the room.

WEBB'S MILLS.

W. J. Cook was called to Woodford's last week by the death of his wife's mother, Mrs. Charles Haskell.

Frank Barton of Cumberland Center has been the guest of his sister and her family, Mrs. H. C. McAllister.

Mr. and Mrs. George Burgess have received word from their son, Winfred, that he had returned to his family at Westbrook, from Camp Devens.

Nina, Harriet and Catherine Burgess spent Sunday with their sister, Mrs. Maud Edwards, Mayberry Hill.

The order of the day at the present with H. C. McAllister is butchering hogs. Last Saturday he took care of his stock of twenty cattle and down to Cook's Mills and butchered three hogs.

Cyrus Barton, who is the guest of his sister, Mrs. Mae McAllister, has been on a trip to Lewiston, Poland and Otisfield the past week, visiting his aunt, Mrs. Carrie Wood, while at Otisfield.

Mrs. E. J. Sylvester, who is nearly 96 years old, spent Thanksgiving with friends at Casco village.

Nearly everyone in this vicinity has had bad colds—some cases of influenza.

BROWNFIELD

Buildings of Harry Brooks Burned

At midnight Saturday Nov. 30, the farm buildings of Harry Brooks at Brownfield were burned. Mr. and Mrs. Brooks and five children, a hired man and Alice Fawcett, a boarder, escaped in scant clothing. The cause of fire is unknown. Mr. Brooks had recently had a new furnace and electric lights installed and had made many other repairs.

The house and barn were connected. The fire when discovered was to far beyond control that nothing was saved. Eighteen head of stock and two horses were burned. The loss is partially covered by insurance of $1,500.

Marston's Mills

Verne Rounds of Bridgton visited his father, W. F. Rounds for a few days. Everett Perry shot a deer in W. S. Healey's field, Wednesday.

Daniel Smith is working in the woods for Sanville & Chick.

Hector Blake and Percival Rounds have moved back to East Brownfield.

Daniel Smith sold his oxen to Fred Moreau of Steep Falls.

Mrs. W. F. Rounds, who has been visiting in Portland, has returned home.

Granville Mansfield and Daniel Smith were in Hiram one day recently on business.

EAST OXFORD

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pratt went deer hunting in the Lake Region, but their success has not yet been reported.

George J. Barton and family went to Yarmouth, Wednesday, where they intend to spend the winter.

Henry Brown arrived home Sunday evening. He visited relatives in Dorchester, after leaving Camp Devens.

Mrs. Mina Bacon visited here Wednesday and Thursday and Mrs. Mary Greeley accompanied her home for a few weeks.

OUR SERVICE

And What it Means to You

We Have a Joint Interest in This Community

And We Wish to Join With You in Every Way to Promote the Communities' Interests

In a sense, this community is like a farm—it pays according to the way in which it is treated.

The successful farmer co-operates with his farm.

Knowing that certain soil elements are necessary to healthy crop growth, he sees to it that these elements are maintained.

The same principle holds good in community development.

Our community is composed of two closely-related elements—town and country.

They are both essential to healthy community growth.

Neglect or mistreatment of either of them by the other affects both—it injures the whole community. Both elements must be maintained.

Accomplishing this is simply a matter of sincere co-operation among all of us in this community.

Our idea of our own part to play for community good in a business way is—

To sell only such implements as have the quality to give high grade results in the field.

To consider good performance by our implements as a part of our obligation.

To sell every implement at a fair price.

To practice the square deal towards each and every customer.

On this basis we invite the co-operation of every farmer in this community.

THE MOST

DANGEROUS DISEASE

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pains in the back—wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These signs warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are driven from your system.

NORWAY

BROWN, BUCK & CO.

MAINE

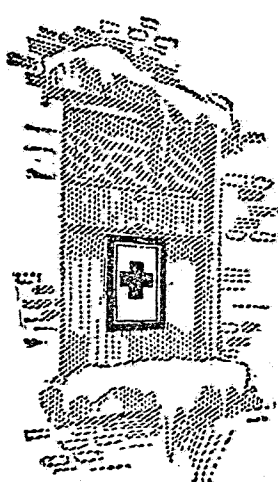

"We joined—have you?"

When you have that button pinned on your coat, you can look the whole world in the face—and feel proud.

It means you have answered "present" to the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call for 1919. It means that you have placed your personal stamp of approval on the work of the Greatest Mother in the World and that you have given her the moral support of your membership. Red Cross work must go on!

As long as Americans are under arms across the sea, as long as the results of war, pestilence and famine afflict the world, the need for the Red Cross will exist.

America has never failed in doing its full duty—that duty now is universal membership in the Red Cross.
